

INTERNATIONAL DECISION-MAKING ANALYSIS

Training the leaders of tomorrow

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

The summer school in International Decision-Making Analysis provides the participants with the key tools to understand, plan and execute informed, timely and responsible decision-making. The course has a clear international, interdisciplinary and real case-study focus. The format is blended: The first component is online asynchronous where participants can decide when to access the material available on the summer school platform. The second component, including lectures, simulations and on-site visits, is held at the University of Udine, in a region full of arts, fun, vineyards, the Alps and the Adriatic Sea.

INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENT

Students and instructors come from three universities: Erlangen-Nürnberg (Germany), Ljubljana (Slovenia), Udine (Italy).

5 INTERDISCIPLINARY MODULES

Theory and concepts of decision-making analysis; International Relations and Security; International Organizations; Economy, Management, Industry; Humanities, Arts and Archaeology.

Online Component (5-20 September 2022)

Introduction to the summer school
Leaders, managers, decision-makers
International Organizations: UN, WB, IMF, WTO
Foreign policy
How Italy decided to join the Euro
Decision-making for material criticality
Decision-making in disputes over artworks
Decision-making in Archaeology
Decision-making in judicial courts

In-presence Component (21-27 September 2022)

Theory and concepts of decision-making
Decision-making on conflict
Two-level game
EU external action
Slovenia & climate-related policies
Business & moral conduct
Decision-making in management
On-site visits and real case studies
Press Conference Simulation

SKILLS FOR LIFE

Decision-making skills are useful for any type of professionals, are transversal and transferable. Learning the key parameters, techniques and factors to make decisions is crucial to the training of tomorrow's leaders and professionals. DAILY COSTS ARE COVERED BY THE SCHOOL: APPLY VIA YOUR UNIVERSITY, FOR FURTHER INFORMATION PLEASE VISIT:

